

Artist Statement

Jenny Long is a painter that has made her home in Nevada City, California.

Face and figure are evident in her work. She has held many jobs to support her life as an artist; including public library service. A love of reading, poetry, and family life have bolstered her resolve to take a stand with beauty.

Long describes her experience as “one of inside out, of a meeting and exposure.”

Self educated, her studies and conversations with other painters have served as her higher education.
