PERSONAL HISTORY

Sarah grew up in Atlanta where she developed a deep appreciation of the arts through her Waldorf based schooling. In high school, in Vermont, she focused on printmaking and painting prior to college. She attributes the guidance of both William Darling and Lawrence Golden in cementing art as a lifelong passion and helping develop a sense of personal style. She attended the University of Southern Maine for her undergraduate degree and continue print making and painting on her own. She graduated from Veterinary School at UC Davis in 2014 and has since been working to blend her love of animals, nature, art, and the human animal bond.
