Artist's Statement

My interests are in the human condition and how different individuals, groups and cultures have taken the intangibles of their lives and translated them into a tangible form. Intellectual, emotional and spiritual dialogues with life manifest themselves in many ways. Being surrounded by numerous manifestations of thought, form, play, love, death, disguise and faith, they speak to me about myself. Seeking to make the intangible tangible and the tangible meaningful, I engage in the creative process for its own sake and to bring into being internal thoughts, feelings and visualizations. The works are symbolic representations of the world in which we act, interact and define ourselves.
