After learning all I could about art, I decided to return to my first love, digital art. I paint using Procreate on the iPad, and Photoshop. I also create collages with remnants of previous paint pours, fragments of paper, and other images.

I had no idea how important art would become to my life until I retired. I merged my computer experience and love of art to obtain a graphic design certificate. I moved on to a 'paint pour' technique because I love the texture and movement of the paint. But, I returned to digital painting using Procreate. My latest endeavor is placing digital paintings onto glass.

Both of these styles I teach in classes and workshops.
