

From Northern California, Kevin Denton has called the picturesque town of Benicia home for the past two decades. His journey into photography commenced during his high school years, armed with a Pentax K-1000 film camera and fueled by a profound appreciation for nature.

In addition to his artistic pursuits, Kevin is happily married to his beautiful wife Elizabeth, a fellow photography enthusiast and travel companion. Their most recent adventure unfolded in the autumn of 2018, leading them to the pristine landscapes of Iceland.

Beyond his personal photographic endeavors, Kevin plays a pivotal role in fostering a sense of community among local photographers in Benicia. As the organizer of a vibrant photography meetup group, he provides a platform for enthusiasts to collaboratively explore, exchange ideas, and capture the beauty of both their community and its surrounding areas.
